Banker Saves Pants But Loses His Cash

S. W. Lewis, president of the First National Bank, saved his pants but lost the cash from his pockets when a thief entered his home during last Saturday night and helped himself. Entrance to the home was gained through the back door from which the screen was cut and the latch lifted. From beneath a neighbor's house the thief had obtained a small box on which he stood while opening the door. The pants were taken from a chair in Mr. Lewis' bedroom and were left on the back porch after the execution of the cash from the pockets. No clue was left by the thief.

POWER EMPLOYEES IN SESSION TODAY

The Georgia Power Company is host today at a luncheon given for the department heads of some thirty or more women's organizations in Statesboro, Metter, Stillmore, Graymont, Summit, Garfield, Palaski, Brooklet and Portral. The luncheon was served in the Woman's Club room at 12 o'clock, at which time a number of local guests were present.

Mr. Crews, of the Edison Lamp Company, presented a plan whereby the Georgia Power Company will pay the various organizations a substantial commission on the sale of lamp bulbs. It was pointed out that the Georgia Power Company has been very successful heretofore in its fall lamp campaign, and that if the sales of lamps this year equal the record sales of last year it will mean thousands of dollars will be paid in commissions to the various clubs of Georgia. The proposition was most enthusiastically received, and it is expected that commissions in Statesboro will reach a very substantial figure.

Among the Power Company officials present were Charlie Apps, W. B. Farnsworth, A. S. Goss and Miss Leah Parker, of Augusta.

DELAWARE MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS MAY BE PLACED IN READINESS FOR FRIDAY AND SATURDAY'S USE

With exhibits equal to, if not better than, any in the history of Bulloch county fairs, the Bulloch Exposition opened its door Tuesday morning. Ideal weather has prevailed throughout the entire week, and many visitors from a distance have come to admire and comment upon the perfection of the agricultural and fancy goods display.

Due to financial entanglements between the midway management and some parties at Dublin, where the carnival company appeared last week in conjunction with a fair, part of the midway organization was held up at Dublin and there was disappointment with regard to the lack of sufficient riding devices on the midway throughout the first of the week.

This matter was partially adjusted through the instrumentality of the Exposition company in conference with the midway management last evening, and today the missing rides are confidently expected to be placed in readiness for use throughout the remainder of the week. Particularly was it deemed necessary to have the merry-go-rounds ready for use on Children's Day, tomorrow, and the Exposition company has gone to considerable expense in its efforts to make this provision.

While the crowds in attendance have been smaller than usually attend our fairs, the number of persons present during the past two days and the midway was fairly well crowded last evening. Tomorrow is expected to be a big day with the school children from all over the county here. A low rate of ten cents for school children and their teachers has been agreed upon for tomorrow, and school children from the adjoining counties are invited to visit the fair at the same price.

The judging of exhibits was completed Tuesday and ribbons of every color are now in evidence throughout the buildings. Among the chief winners were:

County schools, Silston first, Ogechee second, Middle Ground third, and Portral fourth.

Best individual general farm display, W. Amos Akins first, D. A. Tanner second, F. S. Smith third.

In the woman's department for the best display of fancy work, Mrs. W. W. DeLoach first, Mrs. J. C. Hall second; best general display of canned goods, Mrs. Sam Harville first, Mrs. W. C. Howard second, and Mrs. A. Tanner third.

The livestock department is filled with splendid displays of hogs, and the poultry department is equal to any of the past fairs of the county.

Saturday, the last day of the fair, will be especially designated for colored school children and the low rate of ten cents will be granted to them and their teachers.

Willard Battery Dealers Convened

The Hodges Service Station sponsored a conference of the Willard battery dealers which was held at the Jaekel Hotel Wednesday. Warren Walker, of Augusta, distributor of this territory, presided over the meeting which began at 9:00 o'clock. The chief topics discussed were the revision of policies, new low prices and the betterment of their service to Willard owners in this community. A motion picture revealing the steps in making a battery was also an outstanding feature. A luncheon was served at the hotel at 1:30 to twenty-five dealers.

A very distinguished guest was B. Hutchinson, of the Storage Battery Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, out of the Atlanta branch. Others attending were: Messrs. Willett, McDaniel, Sikes, Glennville, Meade, Swain, Pinkney, Sylvania; Jenkins, Savannah; Wood, Colliers; Chapman and Glisson, Ludlow; Meeks, Lyon Forehand, Metter; Moyette, Jones Marsham, Waynesboro; McDuffie, Harlie; Fries, Meade, Swain, Waring, Port, Wentworth; Hodge, Waynesboro; Cashin, Augusta; Walker, Augusta.

GEORGIA'S NEED IS TO GET AWAKE

SHOULD ADOPT SUCCESSFUL
METHODS OF OTHER STATES
TO SERVE HERSELF BEST.

C. F. Redden whose activities in planning and developing the committee of One Hundred have created state-wide as well as national interest in the Georgia, has just announced his resignation from that organization in order to devote his time to other affairs.

He feels that now that the committee's membership includes over 400 of Georgia's leaders in finance, industry, business and agriculture, and with the committee's policies outlined and sub-committees created to formulate working plans to carry on the routine work, and with the citizenry throughout the state thoroughly awakened to the need of such a cooperative organization, that it is fitting and proper that the detail work of the committee be placed in the hands of a native Georgian.

With that thought in mind on August 1st he requested the resignation of October 1st. It was then planned to hold a meeting of all members early in October to formally elect officers, adopt policies and raise the necessary funds to carry on the work of the committee, but because of business conditions and the many demands upon our citizens to contribute to community chest and unemployment funds, it has been considered advisable to postpone the organization meeting until a more propitious time so that the committee's plans and objectives would be more thoroughly and favorably understood and considered.

In commenting upon the Committee of One Hundred, Mr. Redden said: "In my opinion, one of Georgia's greatest needs is to awaken to her opportunities and observe and practice the methods profitably employed by other states to increase their population and expand their trade. Georgia has more to lure home-seekers and sportsmen than any state east of the Rockies, and if properly publicized, her climate, natural beauties and recreational facilities will bring more new cash to Georgia each year than all her agricultural crops combined."

"It is utterly absurd that Georgia should be trailing along in a practically no way in population, and consequently with the large number of vacant store rooms, office buildings, residences and farms throughout the state, while California, by co-operative advertising is increasing her population at such a tremendous rate that the commercial and residential needs of the new comers to that state, every two years, creates a city larger than Greater Atlanta."

"It must be apparent that the present business conditions are a challenge to our business leaders and our co-operative movement to attract new population to the state, to expand our trade, provide tenants for vacant real estate and to otherwise promote prosperity. The time has come when our business leaders must demonstrate their so-called leadership, and conduct an aggressive, state-wide campaign of education, enlightening the citizens of the state as to Georgia's economic needs, and then 'selling the Nation' on the advantages of living and doing business in Georgia."

Mr. Redden conceived and planned the Committee of One Hundred to enlighten the brains and experience of Georgia and set them to work for Georgia along sound, constructive lines. Believing that such an organization of business men and taxpayers representing capital, industry and all civic organizations would provide a clearing house for "facts and plans" where practical, definite measures could be formulated to promote and up-build the state's well being.

Under his direction the committee has already received for Georgia the editorial support of many of the leading dailies of the country as well as the personal endorsement of President Hoover and many others of national importance, and the co-operation of the National Broadcasting Company in boosting Georgia's climate, beauty and recreational facilities.

Anything is better for the individual and the country than hoarding. Today hoarding is as senseless and as unpatriotic an act as can be committed. It must cease before a permanent business recovery can be had.

COUNTY SCHOOLS

All of our white schools are open and off on the year's term, which we sincerely hope may run long enough for our children to make their respective grades. We know that our patrons realize the great need of keeping their children in school during times like these and that they will make every sacrifice possible to do so. Good attendance brings more of the state money to this county. Bad attendance drives it away. So far Brooklet is making her usual high record for attendance of pupils enrolled. I want some other school to put it all over Brooklet this year in attendance record. Brooklet has held this enviable record long enough. What school will dethrone Brooklet? It can be done. Do it and we will tell it to the world. You will be so glad you did it and your school can do it. But it surely will take the hearty co-operation of all of the patrons and all of the teachers to ever equal or beat Brooklet's attendance record.

Our trustees, our superintendents or principals, our boy truck drivers and their fathers or mothers have signed a solemn pledge and agreed to not to drive our county trucks at speeds to exceed twenty miles an hour on the best of roads, or permit it done if those other than the driver can prevent it. A forfeit of $1.00 will be demanded of every driver of the county trucks who violates this agreement. And it will be deducted from the pay check sent out from this office and the boy will have it to pay. Too, it will make an interesting news story for the Bulloch Times to expose the boy who proves to be so unmanly as to violate his sacred pledge and agreement. We trust much to these boys and demand but little—just a careful drive to the school house with the children and then another careful drive with the children to their homes. We demand this much. We shall be on the lookout for any violations of the rules under which these trucks are to operate. We expect all of our citizens to render assistance in taking care of the children transported and our trucks. We must save money and to do so, we must be exceedingly careful with our trucks. Just because the trucks are county property is no license or excuse for abuse as many have felt and acted when trusted with them.

If selecting and employing teachers who are well trained is a guarantee of a good school year, we have that assurance for term just beginning. We believe that Bulloch's schools have the best trained teachers as a whole ever before selected, with just a few exceptions. We shall expect much from our schools this year. And we co-operation and support in every other way demanded to insure successful school year.

Have children look up all of last year's school books and take them to school for sale or exchange. If this course be carefully followed, but few new books would need be purchased. We do not anticipate a much greater enrollment this year over last and of course, the same books just passed on down to the children promote to serve as they did last year. Don't you think much waste has been the result of pure carelessness with books during summer vacation time? Those same books saved would serve other children who are promoted and make it unnecessary to have to buy new books every year. Those fault is this?

Teachers should be able to secure board at a much lower rate than has been charged in former years. Those who board teachers will find that but few teachers are able to pay board bills in advance because they do not get enough money for their work to enable them to store away cash for future needs, but depend on income to meet current expenses. This year, possibly those who do board teachers will have to carry the board bills for a couple of months before teachers' pay comes in. But after that we feel that the teachers can and should pay board promptly. Last year many teachers delayed paying board bills which they could have well paid but instead of doing so, they elected to spend their money for something else. This kind of action makes citizens slow to offer teachers board. It would be a good idea to have a definite agreement as to time of payment of board bills and for prompt payment, make board reasonable. The present times demand this.

The annual county fair is now being held. For many years Friday has been designated as "school day." It is anticipated that our schools will take advantage of this day as has been the custom for so long a time. Define plans will be given teachers in charge of the several schools in time for complete arrangements for the fair day for the children. Several of our schools will have educational exhibits on display which the school colored school children will be given this opportunity on Saturday.

BULLOCH TIMES

Subscription, $1.50 per Year.
D. B. TURNER, Editor and Owner.

Entered as second-class matter March 23, 1905, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

Don Dickerman, artist of New York, was awarded a $100 prize for defining love as "a season pass on the shuttle between heaven and hell."

James Albert Scott, boxer of Bridgeport, Conn., boasted an "undefeated record" until his wife got a decision over him in a domestic bout.

GAS TAX JEPARDIZED

"There were 15 bills in the last legislature attempting to tinker with the gasoline tax, some proposing an increase," says Arthur H. Breed, president of the California state senate. "This resort to gas tax to solve needs for additional public expenditure keeps up without abatement."

"The gasoline tax has proved to be so acceptable and so easy a method of raising revenue that it is placed in serious jeopardy by the schemes to exploit it for the benefit of this and that project."

It is to be hoped that his statement will find an echo in every state. The greatest enemies of a successful gasoline tax are those who seek to increase it to excessive levels, or to use gas tax funds for purposes other than highway work.

By drawing a bolt with a button hook fastened to a pole, thieves broke into a store in Chicago and stole $3,500.

REDUCED EXPENDITURES

The American Legion, at its recent convention in Detroit, gained public good will by the bonus question when it voted to make no financial demand on the next congress, which faces the task of either greatly increasing taxes during depressed times or reducing expenditures to meet the government income.

President Hoover, in a public statement thanking the Legion for its action, said that it had set an example to all political or private agencies seeking funds from the federal treasury. He said there should be a moratorium on demands for public funds until times improve and that sectional interests should become secondary to the common welfare.

An example of the attempted raids on the public treasury, he cited 271 bills introduced in the last congress, all of which were rejected, which asked for appropriations over a ten-year period of nearly $17,000,000,000.

While rejecting these amounts, the last congress appropriated some $10,200,000,000, the largest peace-time assessment ever levied against the people by a single session of congress.

The people should demand that political or private interests, groups or associations, should refrain from asking the taxpayers for unusual expenditures at this time. Furthermore, the people should demand that congress cope with appropriations to the bone before considering tax increases which, in the last analysis, all come out of the pocket of the ultimate consumer.

Austrian scientists claim to have found bones buried 200,000 years ago. Wonder if they have found the dog that buried them?

ADJUST MOTOR FOR WINTER USE

With the wide temperature ranges experienced at this season of the year, the motorist will find it to his advantage to have the motor retuned and adjusted, according to M. D. Douglas, general parts and service manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co. "One of the distinct advantages of the modern automobile over its early predecessors is found in the fact that the motor today can be adjusted to give maximum performance in all seasons. A motorist who drives through the winter with a car adjusted to summer weather conditions deprives himself of much of the car's capacity for performance and needlessly increases its operating expense," Mr. Douglas said.

The carburetor should be checked, and the valves should be adjusted to prevent loss of compression. The ignition system, especially the timing, should be cleaned thoroughly and checked for proper adjustment; the proper functioning of the ignition system is essential to easy starting on cold mornings.

Other suggestions made by Mr. Douglas include a thorough flushing out and cleaning of the cooling system; draining and flushing the crankcase and refilling with a good grade of oil. And, perhaps most important of all, the brakes should be adjusted, or, if necessary, relined.

"Penrod and Sam" For Library Benefit

On Friday and Saturday, October 16th and 17th, at the State Theatre, on West Main street, "Penrod and Sam," a new and colorful screen adaptation of Booth Tarkington's story of the same name, will be shown. The picture is being put on by the theatre management in co-operation with the Bulloch county public library, and a generous patronage of the performance is being urged. There will be a matinee performance both days and two shows in the evenings. This picture is fine for both children and grown-ups.

A group of Boy Scouts and a number of High School girls are selling tickets, which are priced as follows: 25 cents for children under twelve (day or night) and for teachers, while 35 cents will be the charge for adults. Mrs. O. W. Horne will sell tickets in the business section of the city. Approximately half the money made in this way will go to the county library fund. Be sure and buy your tickets through the library committees.

Pike County Bankers Will Help Farmers

Zebulon, Ga., Oct. 12.—Pike county bankers believe that the farmers and other business men who loan money can—despite low-priced cotton or no cotton at all—make a living and more, and at the same time pay their obligations.

In fact, so strongly do the bankers and other business men of the section feel that the tillers of the soil can succeed in the face of depression, agricultural debilitation or what not, that they are going to help them perhaps to a greater extent than have ever done before, risking their money (assuming it to be a risk) on their judgment.

But the farmers must meet these bankers and business men half way, a fifty-fifty proposition, so to speak—each apparently, has all the elements of good sense. In a word, it is a leveling food and feed crops.

Blanks have been drafted and printed in which it is told just how much food of every kind is used by each person, animal and fowl on a place for the same blank includes a place for an inventory of the amount of feed, seed, cotton, pepper and other crops produced this year with an estimate of what will be required to care for the livestock and members of the farmer's family, together with suggestions of what crops should be planted and what will be spent for fertilizer and seed. Pledges to carry out the budget will insure for the farmers the financial aid needed—and what is more, business leaders asserted, it will bring prosperity to the county as a whole.

The judge who tried Fred M. Conklin, of Chicago, for speeding fined him $3 for each mile per hour he was traveling, or $135.

Embarrassed because he ran into the street in his night clothes when the house next door caught fire, Louis H. Meers, of Washington, sued his neighbor for $10,000 damages.

Irwin Kolar, a Chicago taxicab driver, told police that a smartly attired young womanman, posing as a passenger, rode around in his cab for a while and then robbed him of his money and his pants, much to his embarrassment.

FROG SAVED SELF WHEN SNAKE CAME

SO PEOPLE ARE ABLE TO HELP THEMSELVES WHEN OTHER HELP FAILS.

A great many people we know remind us of the frog that Charles F. Kettering, chief research engineer of General Motors, told about the other day.

A deacon was on his way to church one Sunday morning, dressed in his best and with his shoes nicely polished, when he heard his name called from a mudhole near a big bullfrog. "I've been in here three days," said the frog, "without anything to eat, and I wish you would help me out."

The deacon looked at his shiny shoes and remembered that he had to pass the collection plate in church, so he replied: "I'm sorry, old man, I can't help you now, but on my way back from church I'll give you a lift out of the hole."

As he came back from church the deacon was surprised to find the frog sitting in the middle of the road, contentedly snapping at flies. "I thought you said you couldn't get out of that hole," said the deacon. "I thought I couldn't either, until a snake came along and I just had to get out," replied the frog.

Lots of people are discovering these days that they can do things they didn't think they could do. Under the pressure of necessity every one of us can accomplish the impossible. In good times nobody uses more than a fraction of his ability and resources. But when the snake of hard times comes along we just have to get out of a hole, and like the frog in Mr. Kettering's story, we find some way to do what we didn't believe we could do.

It is a good thing for humanity that life is not always pleasant and easy. Intelligence, ability and character are only developed to their best in the face of adversity. And the harder the struggle, the more fun there is in looking back at it after the peak has been passed.

Dr. Frank Shuffelbottam, of Newcastle, Eng., stated in his bankruptcy case that fighting his wife's divorce suit had wrecked his finances. When a policeman, of Norfolk, Conn., stopped a motor car and asked the tiny driver his age, the midge replied, "I am 25 and married."

Our people were glad to welcome as our leader a Wednesday evening Prof. Caruth, and they greatly enjoyed his message. Our community is blessed with a fine and numerous group of consecrated Christian laymen, who count it a privilege to be useful in the churches as well as elsewhere.

Next Sunday has a full program, 10:15 classes and assembly, 11:30 worship and service, subject: "Tentative," communion meditation; 8:00 p. m. song and prayer service with sermon, text: "Because thou hast known my name."

Cancer is not contagious. At least this is the present belief of medical science. DIRECT MARKETING WILL AID FARMERS

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE REPORTS INCREASE IN NUMBER OF FARMERS' MARKETS.

Athens, Ga., Oct. 19.—The promotion and successful operation of direct marketing of small surpluses from a great variety of farm products is one sure way of helping farmers to adjust their operations to the present unsatisfactory distribution situation, declares Prof. J. William Flier, head of the agricultural economics and marketing division, of the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

A considerable amount of money may be obtained by farmers through supplying their neighbors, nearby towns and southern cities, with numerous food products which, normally, are shipped into the cotton belt during years when cotton prices are exceedingly low. The exchange of cotton for food products has been in direct contact with such markets since 1923 when the successful Growers' Market of Athens was first organized.

It has been found, according to Prof. Flier, from a standpoint of these markets, that a great variety of farmers are enabled to make a living by producing commodities for sale direct to consumers. Furthermore, other farmers can, as a side line, obtain money from small surpluses at various times throughout the year.

One of the attractive features of such a plan is that the money obtained by farmers is usually free from previously made obligations.

From the standpoint of consumers, such markets furnish a place where the housewife may have an opportunity to examine a great variety and grades of locally grown farm products. From the standpoint of the town and city in which the market is located, these agencies have stimulated business and added to the wealth of the trade territory.

The successful development of such a market, Prof. Flier points out four principal things to follow:

A convenient building or shed, where the overhead is reasonably low and around which there is an abundance of parking space, is needed for the market place.

Careful supervision which means employment of a market master who understands merchandising.

Co-operation among the public officials, the merchants, the farmers, and consumers in carrying out the purposes of such a market.

Simple rules and regulations covering the time of opening and closing, methods of reporting prices, weights and measures, advertising and similar detailed practices of the market.

There is more interest in the raising of fruits, vegetables, poultry and other commodities for local markets than in many years. There is, of course, danger that these products will be grown in excess of local demand. Consequently, the marketing phase should be studied and developed so that it may be coordinated with the production programs of 1932.

Presbyterian Church

We are deeply grateful for the service rendered our people Wednesday evening by Professor Monte, who have planned the mid-week meeting in the absence of the pastor.

The synod of Georgia, comprising the pastor and one elder from every Presbyterian church in the state, convened in Waynesboro First church last Tuesday evening and consisted, at this meeting, of about one hundred members.

Next Sunday school hour is 10:15, with no preaching service. The pastor will be in Metter. At night, 7:30 o'clock, will be held the evening service of song, prayer and sermon. The re-organized school and the transformed prayer meeting give much encouragement.

A. E. SPENCER, Pastor.

Pilfering of Pants Becomes an Epidemic

Another pants robbery, the second within a week, occurred at the home of Judge Proctor, on Savannah avenue, last Friday night. Thieves entered his home through a rear door, removed his pants from his sleeping room, took a small amount of cash and a valuable gold watch from the pockets and discarded the pants in the back yard. This robbery occurred six days after a similar robbery at the home of S. W. Lewis, who lives only two doors away on the same street. The frequent repetition of this species of thievery indicates an epidemic of pants pilfering has struck Statesboro, and the police are being called on to prescribe a cure for the malady.

LOCAL BANKERS AT COTTON MEET

CONFERENCE AGREES TO PLAN WHICH PROMISES TO AID COTTON SITUATION.

Statesboro's banks were each represented at the bankers' conference in Macon Tuesday, S. W. Lewis and S. Edwin Groover from the First National Bank, B. C. Groover from the Bank of Statesboro and R. F. Donaldson from the Sea Island Bank. They left early in the morning and returned following the conference the same evening.

These gentlemen are hopeful of beneficial results coming from a large amount of cotton will be kept off the market until July 31, 1932. The federal farm board at the cotton meeting in New Orleans agreed to hold 3,500,000 bales if banks in the cotton states will accept as security for loans a large amount of cotton—held in the state thus holding 7,000,000 bales off the market until August, 1932.

This plan was agreed to by Georgia bankers at the Macon meeting. The cotton pledge circulated by the Georgia Bankers Association was signed in accordance with the agreement. Banks are expected to make or renew loans on not less than one half of cotton for each 1,000 of their total resources.

The action has been taken in the belief that it is to the best interests of the banks and their customers to hold cotton off the market for the present. The original agreement was reached by the federal farm board, the American Cotton Co-operative Association and bankers of the South who attended the conference in New Orleans October 12.

Pomegranate Tree Here Bearing Fruit

A pomegranate tree, with a number of pomegranates on it now about ripe, in the side yard of Mrs. T. L. Cook, is attracting considerable interest in that neighborhood. Bearing pomegranates in climates like this is extremely rare. Mrs. Cook set the tree out five years ago, having brought it from South Georgia. It is about six feet high and this is the first year it has borne fruit. Mrs. Cook keeps the tree covered up during the winters to prevent it from freezing.

The above is from the Asheville, N. C. Citizen. Mrs. Cook, in whose yard the plant is growing which is attracting so much attention, is a Bulloch county woman, daughter of the late W. R. Whitaker. Mrs. Cook carried the bush from Bulloch county and planted it in her yard there.
